FREW & CAMPBELL

THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1875. Some one has taken the trouble to search out the religious persuasions of the Beecher-Tilton jurymen, and finds that most of the denominations are represented. There are three Presbyterians, two Roman Catholics and two Episcopalians, while the Methodists, Baptists and Lutherans have each a representative. The "Nothingarians," otherwise those who make no profession of religion, number two on the jury. It is a noticeable fact that the Rev. Henry's denomination (Congregational) is not represented.

ELECTING A BISHOP.—The election of a Bishop in the Episcopal Church newadays seems to insure two facts—first, that there will be a sharp contest; and second, that the Rev. Dr. De Koven will be a candidate. The new diocese of Fond du Lac, created out of a part of the Diocese of Wisconsin, held its first convention on the Sth instant, and only succeeded in electing a Bishop after an all-day struggle and the taking of fourteen ballots. Dr. De Koven was a sidestate the face that the results of the results of the religion of the second class will support; it believing that the party be provisions respecting inns and public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough in the gislation to protect the negro, and would like to see the Senate bill and all to protect the negro, and would like to see the Senate bill and all the party has gone far enough in the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough in the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough in the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough in the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough in the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough in the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enough in the public conveyances; and third, those who think the party has gone far enou and the taking of fourteen ballots. Dr. BABCOCK—HOLLOWAY.—On Wellnesday January 13, 1870, at the house of the bride's father by the Rev. Thomas McClenry, Mr. Charles Bas-cock, of Cleveland, Ohlo, and Miss Katz Hollo-WAY, of Bridgeport. De Koven was evidently the favorite of the clergy, and received a majority their votes on several ballots. Rev. Dr. J. S. B. Hodges came next highest, but at time received a majority. The lay delegates twice cast a majority vote for Rev. Dr. W. P. Tenbroeck, but would not be brought to accept De Koven. Finally Rev. Leighton Coleman, of Toledo, Ohio, was accepted as a compromise candidate, and elected by the unanimous vote of both orders. The Bishop-elect is a son of the Rev. Dr. John Coleman, who was for many years a rector of Trinity Church,

THE right to hiss is in dispute in the Boston newspapers. An individual in the audience at one of the theatres who had become disgusted with the frequent opera being performed, ventured to exoress his opinion by hissing. In nt one of the theatre officials warned him to desist on penalty of expulsion by a policeman who stood near by. Under apulsion he was quiet, but the next day he published an indignant communi cation in a newspaper, asserting his priv ilege to hise, and sharply criticizing the management for what he characterized as an unjustifiable impertinence. The question was taken up in the press, some papers espousing one side of the question and others the other. The issue could not have occurred with regard to any but an American audience. In all the European theatres it is a common thing for an au dience to express disapproval of a play, an opera, actors or singers by loud and ananimous hissing. Debutantes have ac tually been driven from the stage by this sort of criticism, and more than one ambitious author has had his new work over whelmed and himself extinguished by aibilant storm. Perhaps the average of artistic excellence on the stage in this country might be considerably elevated if the European fashion were to come into general use among American audien

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY .- It is not at al tives have been reported to have moved mile in a minute for short distances But locomotives have often come to grief by such great rapidity. Multitud their haste to get rich are ruined every year. The men who do everything naturely, slowly, deliberately, are the men who oftenest succed in life. People who are habitually in a hurry, generally have to do things twice over. The torbeat the hare at last. Slow men seldom knock their brains out against a post. Foot races are injurious to health, us are all forms of competitive exerise; steady labor in the field is the best gymna-sium in the world. Either labor or exercise sium in the world. Either labor or exercise carried to exhaustion or prostration, or even to great tiredness, expressed by "fagged out," always does more harm than the previous exercise has done good. All running up stairs, running to catch up with a lerry-boat, are extremely injurious to every age and sex, and condition of life. It ought to be the most pressing necessify which should induce persons over fifty to run twenty wards. Those live longest who are diliberative, whose actions are run twenty wards. Those live longest who are diliberative, whose actions are who are differently, whose actions actions measured, who neverembark in an enterprise without "sleeping over it," and perform all the every day acts of life with calmness. Quakers are provebball ly calm, quiet people, and Quakers are a thrifty lolk the world over.

A March Session of Congress.

Washington Correspondent of the Boston Post.)

An extra sesssion of Congress or the immediate organization of the new Con-gress on the 4th of March seems inevita-ble as things now appear, and the reasons therefor multiply daily. Less than eight weeks now remain in which to transact the business that is absolutely necessar ry, aside from the other measures that are certain to be brought in antagonism, and which will precipitate long and excit ing debates. The House has passed only four of the appropiation bills, they being the simplest of the whole lot, while the Senate has only passed one of those sent from the House. Delays of all sorts, some from the House. Delays of all sorts, some planned and others unforeseen, have and will continue to occur, and unless there is an understanding arrived at very soon to the effect that the new Congress will meet immediately after the expiration of this one, either in regular or extra session, there will be such a rush and confusion in the last days of this session as was never before witnessed. The democrats are generally favorable to the organization of the new Congress on the 4th of March. It is in their power to force that organization or an extra session by preventing the passage of important appropriation bills by this Congress, thus rendering an early session of the new Congress imperatively necessary to have more appropriated with which to rust the government during the fiscal year subsequent to priated with which to run the government during the fiscal year subsequent to the 30th of next June. One of the arguments in favor of this course is that the new Congress, with its democratic House and increased membership in the Senate, ought to be here to look after such matters of legislation as will then be presented for immediate action. Beaides, the presence of Congress, it is thought, would be a wholesome check upon the other branches of the government. Otherwise there would be a nine, months' yeastion in which they say a further chance to do mischief and commit more outrages would be afforded the administration.

THE Detroit Free Press says: "It takes two yards of elastic to make an ordinary Indiana garter." The Louisville Courier-Journal testifies that this is "much below the regular standard." It is probable that both these distinguished investigators have gone farther than the interest of science demanded, and have mistaken the belt for a garter.—Col. Journal.
